16th February 2024

We ended last week with a lovely creative arts afternoon inspired by the Chinese New Year and the Year of the Dragon. The children were given a choice in creating their own dragons, choosing between clay modelling, card or paper crafts or drawing. We also learned about the story of The Great Race which explains the 12 animals of the Chinese Zodiac as well as watched examples of dragon dances. The children interviewed our school dragon and then had a go at some dragon dancing themselves. If you missed the video on our facebook or just want to see more photos please see our news pages on the website: <https://www.lowickholylslandschools.org.uk/website/year-of-the-dragon/680982>

This week we have been busy thinking about the different kinds of historical evidence, how useful it might be and what it can tell us. The children were interested and surprised to find out about a 104 year old biscuit left over from Shackleton's Nimrod expedition which sold for over £1000! Other, more ordinary, historical evidence included photos, objects from their expedition, newspaper articles from 1916 and Shackleton's medals. Older children have also thought about what the evidence can tell us about Shackleton's character. In fact we have been thinking about character a lot. In RE we have been thinking about Noah and the Ark and what kind of person Noah must have been. We also thought about each other and created a positive display of everyone's best qualities. We've turned those into word-art smiley faces and put them up on the wall to remind us of our best selves.

In Commando Joe's the children have been thinking about saving our planet and discussed the environmental changes that are happening. The children then individually designed a poster to communicate their views.

Technology upgrade

We are pleased to let you know that we are leasing a new set of ipads for school thanks to your fundraising efforts. This means that, after half term, the children will be able to access apps which were not able to run on our older models. The older models are being repurposed for Early Years use so they are still going to be used. We are looking forward to using them across the curriculum in different

For the Chinese new year, Olive made a delicious Chinese lunch. The Holy Island children also took some snacks back to Island.

Going primary update

As you know, we will be converting to a primary school from September 2025 when we keep our current year 3s into year 5. This is a big change and we are currently working with the local authority and other Berwick schools to plan accordingly. Some of the primary schools in the Alnwick partnership have kindly invited me to visit them and see how they managed the transition and developed their curriculum and wider offer so I will be visiting them over the next few months. Our aim is to keep all the positive things which make our first schools so special and successful and extend into upper key stage two. We do have an advantage in that both Mrs Stiansen and myself have worked in middle schools or primary schools previously. I worked in middle schools, teaching years 5 to 8, for 15 years so I have a good idea of what is involved with older children. In due course we will also be recruiting an upper key stage two (years 5 & 6) teacher as part of our transition to primary. Our other advantage is that we have the capacity in our buildings and grounds to make it work well.

We will be seeking parents and carer's views early in the next academic year as we want to make sure that we design a primary school offer that fits what everyone needs in our community.
